Osechi Ryori

Oshogatsu (New Year) in Japan is a day spent celebrating the New Year and enjoying traditional "Good Luck" foods known as Osechi Ryori. Many of the Osechi Ryori foods are symbols or wishes for the upcoming year. Kuromame (black beans) are eaten for good health, Yude Ebi (shrimp with bent backs) for a long life and Datemaki (sweet egg omelette) for knowledge just to name a few.
